

A FREE LIGHTNING LESSON

Is Your Work Still Building You?

Three Ways Capable Professionals Misread Their Position

A free preview of the Capability Position Read.

Temidayo Afonja

Founder, The Density Group. Author, The Capability Audit.

What this free lesson will not do.

This session will not tell you whether to stay or leave.

It will not place you into a Career State.

It will not give you a personalized plan.

It will help you notice three ways capable people misread their position, so you can decide, more carefully, whether to examine yours.

You are asking one question. There is a quieter one beneath it.

WHAT YOU MAY BE ASKING

Should I stay in this role, or should I go?

WHAT YOU NEED TO READ FIRST

Is this position still forming me, and does what it built travel?

Strong performance can coexist with flat formation.

A role can value you and still stop building you.

A team can rely on you and still narrow the range of problems you meet.

A title can rise while the capability that would carry you elsewhere quietly stops moving.

Performance is a signal. It is not the reading.

The vocabulary for reading your position.

DENSITY

Is this environment still forming deeper capability in me?

What the last ninety days have actually built, not what they promised to build.

OPTIONALITY

Does what I am building travel beyond this context?

Whether the capability is legible to a room that does not know your project, your team, or your title.

Two words. High-level today. The full instrument is not part of this session.

Scoring the intended life.

Reading a plan, a promise, or a future assignment as though it has already happened.

EXAMPLE

“My new assignment starts next quarter, so this role is stretching me.”

CORRECTION

An intention is not evidence. Read the work the last ninety days actually produced.

Take one quiet minute.

One prompt. No sharing. No scoring.

WRITE IT DOWN

Where am I scoring a promise, plan, or future possibility as though it already happened?

Confusing being valued with being formed.

Reading dependence, visibility, or trust as evidence of ongoing formation.

EXAMPLE

“Senior leaders ask for my opinion, so I must be growing.”

CORRECTION

Being needed and being formed are separate conditions. One can rise while the other quietly stops.

Why promotion can stop forming a high performer.

A promotion can increase responsibility, visibility, and dependence while quietly reducing the range of problems that form new capability.

The role gets larger. The person becomes more central. The forming edge may narrow.

This is an application of Misreading 2, not a separate misreading.

Reading low Optionality as a verdict on ability.

When the capability does not travel, capable people often assume the capability was never real.

CORRECTION

Low Optionality may reflect context-bound capability, weak translation, limited exposure, or a combination.

It is not a verdict on ability or worth.

What AI changes about this reading.

Where AI makes routine output easier to reproduce,
your position depends more heavily on judgment, learning velocity,
and capability that travels across unfamiliar problems.

Density and Optionality do not become less important. They become more consequential.

Three questions to sit with.

Four quiet minutes. Write. Do not share unless you want to.

ONE What am I treating as evidence that may only be intention?

TWO Where am I being valued but not necessarily formed?

THREE What have I built that someone outside this context could actually understand?

This lesson opens the question.
The paid workshop reads the answer.

TODAY

Recognition of the three misreadings.

Two words for the reading.

One reflection pass.

No scoring. No placement. No decision.

THE FULL POSITION READ

Full twelve-statement instrument.

Initial read and evidence-backed second read.

Provisional state placement and move category.

Next-Move Decision.

Thirty-day evidence process. Ninety-day rescore.

Field Kit included.

INVITATION

*If this helped you recognize the pattern,
the full workshop helps you read your own position.*

Should I Stay or Should I Move?

A LIVE CAPABILITY POSITION READ

Read what your current work is building before you decide.

[JOIN THE INTEREST LIST / REGISTER]