

CHANGING INDUSTRIES
DOES NOT MAKE YOU
ENTRY-LEVEL AT EVERYTHING.

IT MAKES YOU NEW TO A CONTEXT.

WHAT ACTUALLY CHANGES

Language

Stakeholders

Incentives

Regulation

Operating rhythm

Risks

NONE OF THAT IS YOUR COMPETENCE.
ALL OF IT IS CONTEXT.

And context is learnable.

MOVE ONE

1 CAPABILITY

Judgment that stays useful when the setting changes.

2 CONTEXT

What the new field knows and you do not — yet.

3 CREDENTIAL

Formal evidence or permission the destination requires.

CAPABILITY

WHAT TRAVELS

Finding the real decision in a room of stated positions.

Structuring a problem nobody has framed yet.

Knowing when a number is too clean to be true.

Holding a position when the room would rather you did not.

None of these belong to an industry.

CONTEXT

WHAT MUST BE RELEARNED

The names the same idea goes by here.

Who must be convinced, and who can quietly stop it.

What the pressure is, and where it comes from.

What everyone here is quietly afraid of.

It feels like a competence gap. It is an information gap.

CREDENTIAL

WHAT MUST BE EARNED

Genuinely required

There is no way around it. Plan for it.

A signal

Not required, but it shortens the conversation.

Neither

Chased because it feels like progress.

MOVE TWO

START FROM THE DESTINATION, NOT FROM YOUR CV.

What does that industry keep failing to solve?

Which of those decisions have you made before?

Which patterns do you already recognise early?

Which constraints have you worked inside?

TRANSLATE, DO NOT RECITE

“ADAPTABLE.” “STRATEGIC.”
“A FAST LEARNER.”

These describe how you would like to be seen.

THE UNIT THAT TRANSFERS IS JUDGMENT, WITH EVIDENCE ATTACHED.

Not a job title. Not a task list.

MOVE THREE

BRIDGE EVIDENCE

A RELEVANT PROJECT · CROSS-FUNCTIONAL WORK

RESEARCH TURNED INTO A POINT OF VIEW · A WORK SAMPLE

PRACTITIONER CONVERSATIONS · A FIRST-90-DAYS PLAN

ONE PAGE, THREE COLUMNS

WHAT TRAVELS

Judgment, decisions, patterns, ways of working.

WHAT CHANGES

Language, stakeholders, incentives, rhythm, risk.

WHAT I MUST EARN

The credential or exposure nothing substitutes for.
